++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Staying dry today but turning showery during the week.

Today:
After a cold start, any cloud will gradually dissipate during the morning, allowing for a warm and sunny day. Sunshine will turn hazy at times due to high clouds. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Tonight:
Starting fine and dry with clear skies, but cloud will slowly push into the region overnight from the north. Another cold night with a risk of frost. Minimum temperature -2 deg C (28 deg F).

Tuesday:
A few showers for some in the morning and then turning more widespread across the region by the afternoon and into the evening. Feeling cooler than of late. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Sunny spells with showers across the region on Wednesday through to Friday, some locally heavy. Turning colder with a continued risk of frost overnight.
